

Organizer's rules in case of bad weather

- The performance is not cancelled in advance – cancellation of a performance is only decided at the time of the planned start of the performance.
- If it rains at the beginning of a performance, the organizer reserves the right to postpone the beginning of the performance.
- The performance can also start in bad weather (e.g. in the rain), if this is accepted by the performing ensemble.
- The performance can be interrupted (even repeatedly) and then resumed.
- The organizer reserves the right not to provide chairs with cushions and not to distribute blankets.

Cancellation of a performance

- If a performance is cancelled within 60 minutes after its start, there is a right to a refund
- Refund of the entrance fee is possible only from the day following the day when the performance was cancelled, exclusively in the location where the ticket was purchased
- If the performance is cancelled after more than 60 minutes (net time), there is no right to a refund.

Recommendation

- Hot summer days can be followed by cold summer evenings, it is therefore advisable to bring warm clothing and suitable footwear
- It is not possible to use umbrellas during the performance, as they limit visibility, therefore we recommend that you bring a waterproof jacket or raincoat
